PUBLIC RELATIONS IN LOCAL GOVERNMENT

by Robert Stephens

It has been said that good government is a product of three factors:

Good tools, good men in public office, and public support and guidance. As for the good tools, we must consider whether the governmental machinery is set up in the best way to do the job that is required. We must ask ourselves, too, if the organization is streamlined to the point where action can result without too much confusion.

Can the people get to see those in power, and can the people in power carry out their jobs without endless delays? The second factor, good men, has two aspects, the first of which is persuading qualified people to seek election to local government elective offices.

And hand in hand with this, education of the voting public to select those candidates who are qualified and with whom the voters will be satisfied during the candidates terms of office.

The final factor, public support and guidance, is the element which enables government to reach its highest potential, from the adoption of its enabling legislation establishing the city, to the acceptance of needed laws and to the provision of the necessary services.

Thus in local government, the objective of our public relations is to obtain sympathetic support from the public for our programs so that the things we know are well conceived and well organized will be accepted, rather than hindered or opposed by the people who have failed to understand either our goals or our methods. Good government public relations is good performance - publicly appreciated.

It is a democratic way of life. Local government must first do a job that people can think well of and then intelligently and deftly call attention to it.

As the above definition indicates it is necessary for your local city government, if it is to earn the confidence, respect, and support of the people, to be sound and honest. There is no substitute for this formula if you are to meet the indispensible requirement for good performance. In a democracy, the

Shopping center, service station before planners

An application by Ernest R. Cook for approval of a shopping center at 2885, 2895, 2905, and 2915 Winchester Blvd. is on the agenda for the next meeting of the Campbell Planning Commission, Oct. 31.

The proposed development is located near European Motors and Anastasia's Gym on Winchester Blvd. near the corner of Sunnyoaks. Cook proposes to construct five stores immediately and three in the future. The retail sales area amount to 9200 sq. ft.

One of the conditions the planning staff recommends if approval is granted is that Cook dedicate a portion of his frontage property to the plan line of Winchester Blvd., and that any existing buildings be demolished prior to obtaining a building permit.

Other matters before the Planners on Oct. 31 will be the public hearing of the application of Eva M. Archibald for a use permit to allow a service station to be constructed at 2120 Winchester Blvd. The garage and service station previously operated by Bud Tunstall of Campbell, was destroyed by fire on June 27 of this year. According to Mrs. Archibald's application, she intends to remove the three duplexes on the rear of the property and combine the two properties.

Howard Ruth is applying for approval of a restaurant on property located at 100 W. Hamilton Ave. This property was recently rezoned for the purpose of constructing the restaurant and possibly a theater. Ruth plans to construct "Ken's House of Pancakes" on this property.

PTA considers Jack Fischer scholarship

The possiblity of changing the name of San Tomas School to honor its former principal, Jack Fischer, was discussed at the recent meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Campbell Union School District.

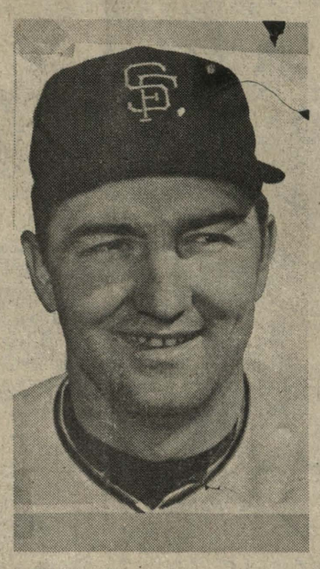
A memorial scholarship fund in Fischer's name was also on the agenda. Both matters were tabled until the December meeting, at which time the San Tomas P.T.A. expects to have more information for the Board of Trustees.

Fischer died Sept. 26 following a lengthy illness. He had been principal of San Tomas School for 13 years.

Youths caught with explosives

Two local boys are being held at Juvenile Hall on suspicion of burglary and the possession of and detonating of explosive material. The youths were apprehended by Campbell police officers running from the area of the Campbell High School boys gym.

Officers recovered a large amount of drills, grinding equipment, master keys to Campbell High School, and four CO-2 exploded cartridges stashed in the bushes near the school. The youths are suspected of exploding a "homemade bomb" in the Campbell High School pool recently.



TOM HALLER HERE--The rangy, long-limbed TOM HALLER of the S. F. Giants, will be at the Campbell Shopping Center at Winchester Blvd., between Hamilton and Latimer, on Oct. 22. On hand to greet the popular catcher will be the city's dignitaries and a host of Campbell Shopping Center business people.

L.E. (Bill) Means of Campbell Drugs and Pharmacy has announced that Haller will sign autographs as long as his arm holds out.

Committee gives answers to college bond proposal

The West Valley College $21 million dollar bond proposal for construction of the first permanent campus in Santa Clara is to be voted on November 8. The Campbell Press, through information received from the Committee for West Valley College, is able to provide these answers to the many questions that are being asked about the bond proposal.

A. WHY IS A NEW CAMPUS NEEDED?

A. It is needed:

1. To provide continued quality instruction for students now crowded into temporary inadequate and scattered facilities.

2. To assure that the recently hard-won accreditation not be lost.

Q. WHAT METHODS CAN BE USED TO FINANCE A NEW CAMPUS?

A. 1. Pay as you go. This system of finance means you build only those facilities each year which can be paid for out of the current budget. This would mean a continuing raise in the basic tax rate to provide adequate funds for the construction of buildings and land acquisition each year. It also means you do not have the facilities when you need them and that the burden for supplying these facilities falls unduly upon the taxpayers of a particular limited period.

2. Bonding. It has the advantage of reducing the amounts paid out of each annual budget and thereby causing less stress upon the taxpayers. Furthermore, this method is more equitable because it makes possible payment for these facilities by those who use them since bonds, as proposed for West Valley are usually issued for 25 years.

Q. HOW MUCH MONEY IS NEEDED?

A. $21,500,000. This amount will purchase the site and construct a complete college campus in Santa Clara, at which the full time equivalent of between 4500 and 5000 students can be accommodated. It will also provide a little theater and meeting facilities for use by the entire community, including an educational program for the adults of the community. The total square footage is in excess of 477,000 square feet. This amount will also provide the necessary funds to purchase the third campus site in the Campbell-Cambrian area, recommended by the District Master Plan for Facilities.

Q. WILL THE AMOUNT OF $21,500,000 INCREASE OUR TAX-

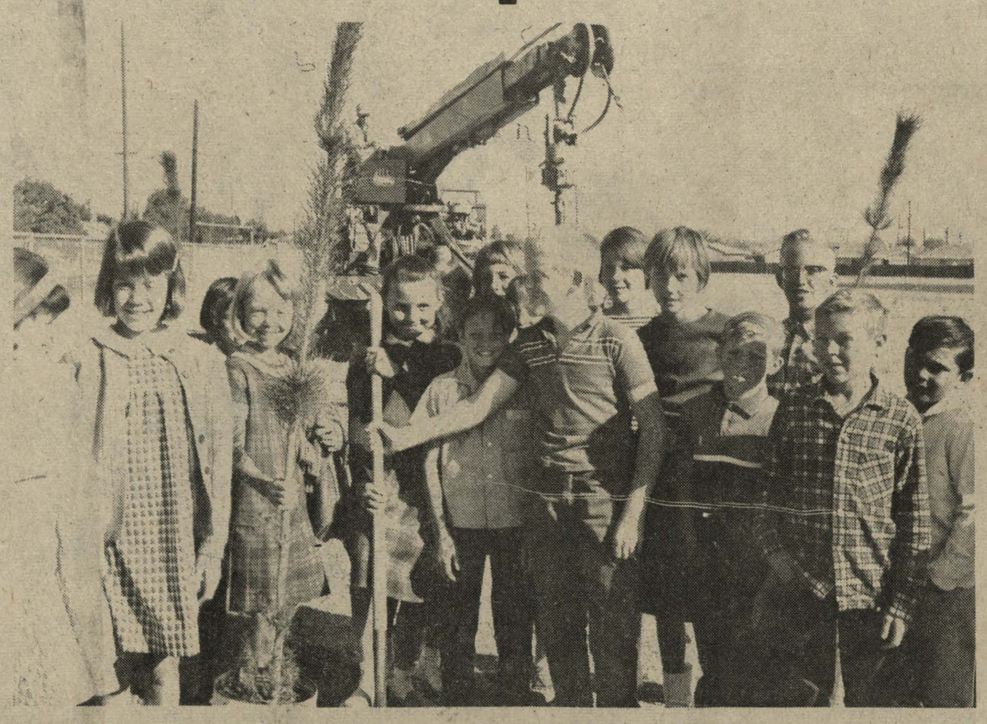
WORK BEGINS ON BUDD AVE.--The long awaited improvement of Budd Ave., gets underway as Pacific Gas and Electric Company men prepare to remove power poles in anticipation of the widening of the street. High on the pole, disconnecting power lines is PG&E man Frank Baker. R.J. Zipse Paving Co. has been awarded the paving contract.

Kids and Telephone Co. work together planting trees



TREE PLANTING PROJECT--On Friday, joint endeavors of the Hazelwood Home and School Club, Hazelwood children, a local nurseryman and the Pacific Telephone Company, resulted in the planting of 127 pine trees around the perimeter of the school grounds.

The Pacific Telephone Company generously loaned a "hole digger" and several crew members to operate it while the school children took turns planting the trees. Directing the operation were Mr. and Mrs. Dave Chase, 3734 Century Dr., who have two children attending Hazelwood School. Chase is a Pacific Telephone plant service foreman.

In the first picture, a group of fifth grade children admire the efforts of Connie Gray, Dorothy Clapes and Fritz Oltmann, holding the shovel; to the right the Pacific Telephone truck continues to dig holes while Bill Young, Richard Chase and Penny Clever plant one of the trees.

Bottom picture, left, shows Principal Tony VanLaarhoven overseeing the planting efforts of Vernon Turner, Skip Reed and Richard Chase, with Eugene Juarez, Hazelwood maintenance man who also donated his time using the rake to tamp down the ground.

Crew members and the telephone truck prepare the ground to the right, with telephone employees Dennis Anderson and Chase in the background.

Editorial

What "1-A" is all about

Proposition 1-a on the November ballot will concern revision of California's outdated Constitution. The ballot proposal is on top--both in placement and in importance.

Proposition 1-a is the first constitutional revision presented to the people since 1879.

California's Constitution is now the third longest in the world. It has been amended more than 300 times. As Phil S. Gibson, former Chief Justice of the California Supreme Court, has stated:

"(Our Constitution is)... cumbersome, unelastic, and outmoded....It is not only much too long, but it is almost everything a constitution ought not to be."

Proposition 1-a deals with approximately one third of the present 80,000 word Constitution. The new language is modern and about 16,000 words of the 22,000 in the sections covered have been deleted.

Proposition 1-a is the product of the Constitution Revision Commission, a blue-ribbon group of 69 state leaders who, without pay, have spent two years and thousands of hours revising the State's basic law.

The Commission was created in 1963 after a two-to-one vote of the people authorizing the commission approach to revision. Of the 69 persons, 48 are leading citizens, six are regular legislative members, and 15 are ex-officio legislative members. The citizen membership includes businessmen, labor officials, educators, lawyers, housewives, and representatives of women's organizations.

All interested groups were given an opportunity to present evidence to the Commission and help formulate the proposals which appear as Proposition 1-a. The proposition was subsequently approved by more than two thirds of each house of the Legislature, with only one dissenting vote in the State Assembly.

Both Governor "Pat" Brown and Ronald Reagan, the Democrat and Republican candidates for Governor, respectively, have endorsed the proposition. This bipartisan support is indicative of the impartial approach taken by the Commission and the Legislature to Proposition 1-a.

The Commission's work follows many years of constitutional history. The first Constitution was accepted by the people in 1849. In the troubled period that followed, dissatisfaction with the document grew, and a new Constitution was adopted in 1879. Since that time there has been no true revision, although--in 1949--the public approved the deletion of 14,500 unnecessary words, making at least a start on the work the present Commission has faced and is continuing to face today.

The job of the Commission, in fact, does not stop with the presentation of 1-a on the ballot. The Commission is approximately one third of the way through the Constitution. Covered in 1-a are articles dealing with Separation of Powers, the Legislature, the Executive, and the Judiciary--in other words, the "heart" of government.

But even as the campaign concerning the ballot proposal continues, the Commission itself is holding monthly meetings to modernize the rest of the Constitution.

An example of the Commission's work is the Proposition 1-a handling of Separation of Powers. The proposal retains, with only a simplification and modernization of wording, the concept that the legislative, executive, and judicial branches of government must be separate. The article is retained, following a great amount of study, although many other constitutions do not specifically state the Separation of Powers doctrine.

Proposition 1-a in effect accomplishes the following principal objectives:

(1) Legislative Reform

(a) Strong anti-conflict of interest rules are enacted, prohibiting outside activities of Legislators that bear on pending legislation, with provisions for penalties and enforcement.

(b) Expenses of legislators are restricted and limited according to prescribed rules.

(c) Legislator pensions are restricted to conform to a prescribed formula.

(d) Annual legislative sessions are instituted, thus eliminating the every-other-year "budget" session coupled with a "special" session with legislative considerations limited to items dictated by the Governor.

(e) In keeping with the full-time legislator concept, a realistic, honest legislative salary schedule of $16,000 per year is instituted beginning in 1967. Future salary increases are limited to 5 percent per annum and can only be approved by a two-thirds vote of each legislative house, subject to the Governor's veto, and referendum.

(2) Judicial Reform

(a) Existing requirement of 5 years of admission to the practice of law in California for eligibility for a judgeship is increased to 10 years for superior and higher than superior courts.

(b) The present Constitutional provision requiring at least one superior court judge in each county is revised to permit counties to share judges, thus reducing expenses.

(c) Superior and municipal court judges seeking a non-judicial public office must take a leave of absence without pay.

(3) Executive Reform

(a) The Legislature is given authority to grant extensive powers to the Governor for reorganization of the executive branch.

(b) The line of succession to the office of Governor is clarified.

(c) The State Supreme Court is empowered to determine if a vacancy in the office of Governor should exist because of disability.

(d) Existing Constitutional provision allowing the Governor and Controller to authorize "special" funds for the Attorney General is eliminated.

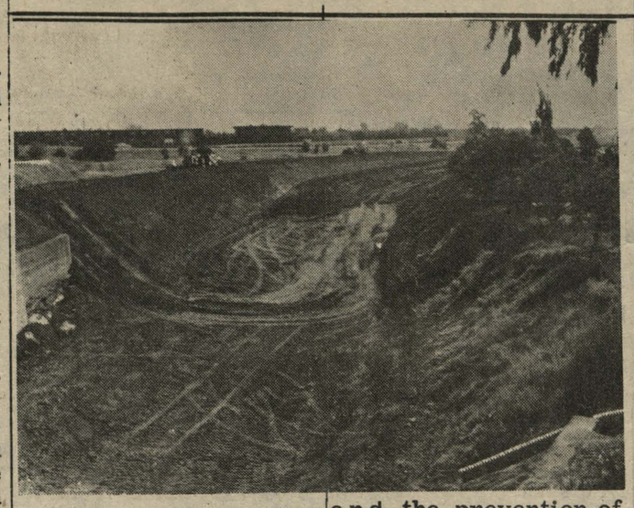
(4) Initiative Reform

(a) The present requirement that a petition for a statutory initiative contain signatures equivalent to 8 percent of the votes cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding gubernatorial election is reduced to 5 percent--for the purpose of encouraging sponsors of initiative measures to use a statutory initiative rather than a Constitutional amendment, for which the 8 percent requirement is retained.

(b) The little-used "indirect initiative"--a petition to the Legislature rather than to the people--is abolished.

(5) Constitutional Reform

Proposition #1-A, in the main, covers the recommendations of the California Constitution Revision Commission to shorten and make substantive changes in approximately one-third of California's 80,000-word, overly complicated, outdated Constitution. The existing 22,000 words in the portions covered by this revision will be reduced to approximately 6000.



IMPROVE CREEK AREA--The Santa Clara County Flood Control District is in the process of cleaning up the Los Gatos Creek between Camden and Campbell avenues to provide flood control and the prevention of soil erosion. This cooperative project will enable the City of Campbell and adjacent property owners to landscape and beautify the creek banks without fear of their plantings being washed away.

Letters to the Editor

VOTING MACHINES

Dear Sir:

While gathering campaign material from both political parties for a high school project, I was pleasantly surprised to find an operating voting machine on display at the Republican Headquarters located at 507 E. Campbell Ave. in Campbell.

Because these machines will be used for the first time in our County on November 8th, I thought perhaps your readers might be interested in getting acquainted with this "new fangled invention".

A complete demonstration is given and people may practice "voting" on it themselves. Seems to me that this will prevent a lot of confusion at the polls.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Margaret Schanck

MORE ABOUT

City must listen to what the people have to say about their government.

Then it must comply people insofar as they are sound and reasonable and possible of fulfillment. It seems to me that if the City does not enjoy good public relations, it has itself to blame.

Perhaps there is something wrong with the administration of the public's business, or maybe it doesn't listen to what its citizens are saying, or it isn't letting its citizens know what it is doing.

It has been proven time and time again that you cannot have good government public relations - no matter what kind of a sales campaign you are putting on - unless you are giving good performance, listening to the voice of the people of your community, and telling your story. In its true sense, good government public relations if the result of the marriage of constructive policy and appropriate communication.

The City is indebted to the Campbell Press for its excellent coverage of its activities and functions. We recognize it as our major media of communication with the citizens of Campbell.

In behalf of the Mayor, City Councilmen and City personnel I would like to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Vierhus and his staff for the full and fair coverage of our City's programs during these past two and a half years.

We would hope that our public relations with our local citizens have improved during this period. If it has a large measure of credit must go to the Campbell Press.

A GIFT FROM CAMPBELL--Mrs. Clark Kerr, wife of the President of the University of California, smilingly accepts a "Prune Picker's Award" from Laurance J. Hill, superintendent of the Campbell High School District. The presentation was made at a recent banquet sponsored by the U. C. Alumni Club of Santa Clara County at which Clark Kerr was the guest speaker.

Looking on is Jerry Lee, president of the local alumni club. Mrs. Kerr's grandfather, the late J. Frederick Smith, was the first principal of Campbell High School.

Get your pin-up girl a dryer

Your pin-up girl is that someone near and dear who still pins up the wash. Who each year lugs about two tons of wet wash, hikes 40 miles to and from the clothesline and pins and unpins about 10,000 clothespins. And who'd dearly love a dryer.

A dryer would let her forget the hang of it. She could fluff-dry, damp-dry — remove the wrinkles from permanent press clothes — in any weather, night or day. So give her a break from backache: see your appliance dealer today and get your pin-up girl a dryer.

A recent porpoise-to-porpoise long distance telephone call combined communications technology with marine biology. Participants in the conversation were "Speedy," a trained porpoise at Marineland of the Pacific and "Splash," his counterpart at Marineland of Florida. The two porpoises squeaked, chirped and whistled to each other over the 2,500 miles of telephone lines that separated them. Each listened intently to the other, with only occasional interruptions. Fortunately, a porpoise is a mammal, so no one can accuse me of telling a fish story.

Students are sitting quietly in their classes studying, listening, or, in some cases, daydreaming, when suddenly the door opens and a small ge and a small group of men and women led by Mr. William Allman, Director of Education, or Mr. Russel Fowler, Freshman Counselor look in. The visitors look around seeming very interested in what is going on. Then, on a signal from the guide, the troupe departs from the room commenting on the ability of the teacher, the attractive appearance of the students, or the stuffiness of the room.

Last week was Freshman Coffee week at Campbell. Each morning a group of freshman parents were invited to the cafeteria to get acquainted with Campbell's personnel and educational systems. After this, the parents were taken on a tour of the campus, making stops at several classrooms to view the various departments in action.

SPANISH CLUB
The Spanish Honorary Club, the newest association on campus, held an initiation ceremony and dinner last Friday night. Following a welcome by club president Betty Fuller, the participants recited an initiation pledge led by their advisor, Mr. Jess Sanchez. Later on a travel log of Mexico was presented by special guest Mr. Padilla, Spanish instructor at Blackford High. The evening was topped off with a dinner of tacos, tostados, enchiladas, refried beans, and assorted Mexican candies.

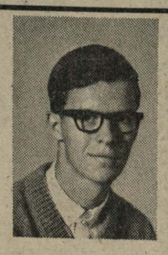
The purpose behind the club is to stimulate an interest in the culture of the Spanish speaking countries. To be eligible, students must be in at least their second year of Spanish and have a B or better average in that subject. In addition, he must agree to communicate only in Spanish while in attendance at the meetings.

SENIOR PLAY
Tickets for the Senior class play, the hilarious English comedy "See How They Run", will go on sale tomorrow, Oct. 20. Prices will be one dollar for adults and fifty cents for students. Ducats can be purchased from any senior and, except in the case of a sell-out, at the door both Thursday and Friday nights, Oct. 27 and 28.

Students, cheerleaders, and the Buc Band gathered around the varsity locker room to stage a victory rally after last Friday's 27-14 win over favored Del Mar. The students yelled, the band played, and the flag girls and pirettes danced, all to the delight of the victorious players. The Buccaneers pit their forces against Leigh this Friday afternoon at Buc Stadium. Both teams are presently 1 and 0 in WVAL action and 2 and 1 on the season.

Campbell's Soph-Frosh lost their first game in two years Thursday, when Del Mar came out on the long end of a tight defensive battle. The little Dons spoiled the Bucs' season debut 6-0 on the losers' home ground.

Warrior World



by RUSS LONG

Indianapolis driver Duane Carter will speak to Westmont students this week as part of the Campion Highway Champion Highway Safety program. He will speak at two assemblies, starting at 9 and 10 a.m.

Carter has finished in the top ten at Indianapolis five times in 13 years. He has appeared on every major track in the United States as well as having raced in Australia, New Zealand, South America and Europe.

The program doesn't emphasize speed, but how lessons learned on the track can make students better and safer drivers.

Last Friday a rally was held in the gym during lunch to promote spirit before the Saratoga game. The spirit was thwarted by Saratoga, as the Falcons ran over the Warriors 26-6. Outstanding players were Greg Wiles, senior from Westmont, and Dick "Instant" Coffey, senior from Saratoga.

SENIOR NIGHT
"A Night For Parents of Seniors" will be held tonight in the school cafetorium. All parents who have seniors are urged to attend this meeting, where information pertaining to college will be discussed.

Friday night at 8 p.m. the Warriors meet the Los Gatos Wildcats at Los Gatos. Hopes are high for a better showing of the Warrior squad.

Clubs play important role at West Valley College

by Heidi Hanson

To the student on his first college day, West Valley College may seem colorless, unfriendly, and be thought of only as a stepping stone to a four year college. As time progresses, students drop their guard, and the talk turns from "what I did this summer" to "what are you doing next semester?" The bonds between the new student and the veteran student grow strong, and the social life begins.

Starting this chain reaction takes some time; Club Week is the largest contributor to breaking apart the small groups of students who cling to each other for social security rather than friendship.

Club Week, set for Oct. 17 through 21, enables each club on campus to man a table and rally for new members. All student body members are being asked to join or just to look over the "marvelous" and "numerous" opportunities offered by each club.

By the end of this week, the energetic student will have been "bowled over" by three, four, or five different clubs, and will have joined as many. Problems arise for such individuals because club meetings are held every second and fourth Tuesdays or Thursdays at 12:30.

Subsequently by the end of the first meeting week, our energetic friend is either completely exhausted because he attempted to attend all the meetings, or has missed every meeting.

The student soon drops to two clubs and leads a normal college life, if college life can be referred to as normal. (Note to the skeptical: Yes, even at West Valley College!)

Local Methodist women join nationwide call to prayer

Members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church of Campbell, will participate next week in one of the most important annual observances of Methodist women throughout the United States.

"A Call to Prayer and Self-Denial," first observed by Methodist women in 1887, focuses on guided mission study, a much needed offering for special mission projects, and a deepened spiritual life. More than 1,600,000 women in 36,000 Societies and Guilds in all 50 states will join in the observance.

The Call is sponsored by the Woman's Division of the Methodist Board of Missions. The division, one of the four major units of the Board of Missions, is the national body under which all local Woman's Societies and Guilds function.

The program meeting for women of Campbell First Methodist Church will be held at 11:30 o'clock on Tuesday Oct. 25, in the Chapel. The Quiet Day Service will be held at 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., Thursday Oct. 27, in the Chapel and Fireside Room.

Leaders of the two events will be Spiritual Life Committee headed by Jean Lowe.

NROTC exam date set for Dec. 10

The test date for the 21st annual national competitive Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps examination has been set as December 10, 1966. Parents and high school officials should remind eligible young high school seniors and graduates to submit their applications before November 19, 1966.

The regular NROTC Program offers a wonderful opportunity for a young man to gain a regular commission while studying at one of 52 NROTC colleges and universities. The Navy furnishes tuition, fees, books, and uniforms, plus a subsistence allowance of $50 per month to NROTC midshipman. Each summer NROTC midshipmen go on interesting and rewarding training cruises.

After completion of his college course and all military requirements, an ROTC midshipman is commissioned as a regular officer in the U.S. Navy or Marine Corps and goes on active duty with the operating forces.

This program is available to male high school seniors and graduates who will have reached their 17th but not 21st birthday by July 1, 1967. Those who make a qualifying score on the Navy College aptitude test will be interviewed and given thorough medical examinations early in 1967.

Approximately 1700 young men from those remaining in competition will thus be selected to attend college next September to prepare for their Naval service.

1967 NROTC Bullitins of Information and application forms are available from local high school counselors and Navy Recruiting Stations.

You don't see many Rolls-Royces around these days, but they they still have the reputation of being the "Best Car in the World" . . . There are still very few people who will argue with you on that point. For sheer quality, nothing in the automotive line can compare with the Rolls. This reputation for workmanship goes back to the introduction in 1906 of the legendary "Silver Ghost" - - - so named for its aluminum-painted body and silver-plated trim. The first model was run nonstop for three months over a distance of 14,371 miles. Afterwards, the Royal Automobile Club of England checked the machine and replaced the worn parts for approximately 10 dollars., And this same car is still running, with more than 500,000 miles behind it! . . . .

5 YEARS AGO

Robert J. Don Chamberlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Chamberlin of 174 E. Campbell Ave., and a senior and honor student at Campbell High, underwent an emergency appendecitis operation on Friday night.

International Business Machines Corporation has announced that it will make interest-free loans up to $1000 to domestic employees for the purpose of building fallout shelters. The loans may be repaid in three years by payroll deductions.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

Q. I will be 65 this year. I plan to continue to work and will earn $8500 this year. Do I have to retire to get Medicare benefits? Must my employer be notified if I do file an application?

A. You don't have to retire to obtain medicare benefits. All that is required is that you file an application and prove your age. When you file an application you will receive a full explanation of how and when regular monthly benefits can be paid to you. You should file for Medicare three months before you reach 65. Your records at Social Security are confidential, so no one needs to know that you have filed.

Q. I will be 65 late this year. When should I file for Medicare benefits?

A. You will have medical insurance protection at the earliest moment (the month of your 65th birthday) only if you apply during the three-month period before the month of your 65th birthday. If you wait and do not sign up until the month in which you are 65, your coverage will not begin until the first day of the next month. This delay can mean a lost month of insurance against doctor bills and other medical expenses. If you wait to file after your 65th birthday, there will be an even further delay in your coverage. As for the hospital insurance part, you will be covered for this as soon as you apply.

Q. If I take my widow's benefits at age 60 at the reduced rate, will they be increased at age 62?

A. No. Once you take the reduced benefits before age 62, your benefit would continue at the reduced rate even after age 62.

Q. At age 58 I became entitled to disability benefits on my own account but receive only $45 a month. Is is possible for me to qualify now at age 61 on my deceased husband's record?

A. In all likelihood, yes. You should check with your Social Security Office as soon as possible, as your widow's benefit could possibly be higher than the $45 you now receive.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

Though it hasn't received as much publicity, the equivalent of a John Birch Society on the left is rapidly assuming political power. It is called the COUNCIL FOR A LIVABLE WORLD. Its membership is secret like the John Birch Society. It dispenses large amounts of money and is heavily involved in backing political candidates.

Col. Henry Ashton Crosby, U.S. Army (Ret.), the Executive Director of the Council for 15 months, issued a statement regarding the organization with which he had become disillusioned. He identified CLW as one of the more active and articulate "peace" organizations whose activities were, according to Crosby, "definitely harmful to U.S. security".

The basic premises shared by most of the groups, according to Crosby, are: "that the United States invariably is at fault in its international actions...; that the Pentagon, the State Department and the U.S. armaments industry conspire to sabotage disarmament measures and to perpetuate...the Cold War; that the Pentagon is composed of trigger-happy generals itching to drop nuclear weapons on Moscow and Peking...; and that anyone who does not agree with the foregoing premises is obviously a rightist and probably a Birchite."

"Almost without exception," Crosby continued, "the various peace groups...have labeled the war immoral, inhuman..., directing these epithets chiefly against the U.S. The Communist Viet Cong, who have maintained their influence in South Vietnam by the systematic use of terror and assassination, are depicted as poor peasants wishing only to be left alone, and...subjected to pitiless U.S. bombardment of napalm, bombs, bullets and poison gas."

In the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD for Oct. 2, 1964, a complete report on the COUNCIL FOR A LIVABLE WORLD prepared by a group of Senators and their staffs appears on page 23039. It describes the origin of the Council in 1962 from the remnants of the "Council for Abolishing War" and the "Lobby for Abolishing War".

The organization's members are, according to the report, largely drawn from the academic world, with some scientists, technicians and engineers from private industry.

Though it is not known how close the Council has come to its goal, each of its estimated 7000 members is asked to contribute 2% of his gross income to a political action fund. This has been estimated to have produced $1400 to $1500 each day.

The Council's method of spreading this political largesse is ingenious. After suggesting candidates who deserve "support", members are instructed as follows: "All checks should be made directly to the candidate, but sent to the Council for transmittal."

Thus the candidate receives a batch of checks from individual citizens and is not required to identify the money as coming from a secret political organization. The system also places the Council beyond compliance with the reporting law in Washington, D.C.

This year the COUNCIL FOR A LIVABLE WORLD has picked new candidates to receive financial support. Because of the clever manner in which its contributions are hidden, we will never know what each received. Nor will we know what the John Birch Society contributed to its candidates.

NEWS ABOUT LOCAL BUSINESSES, AND BUSINESS PEOPLE

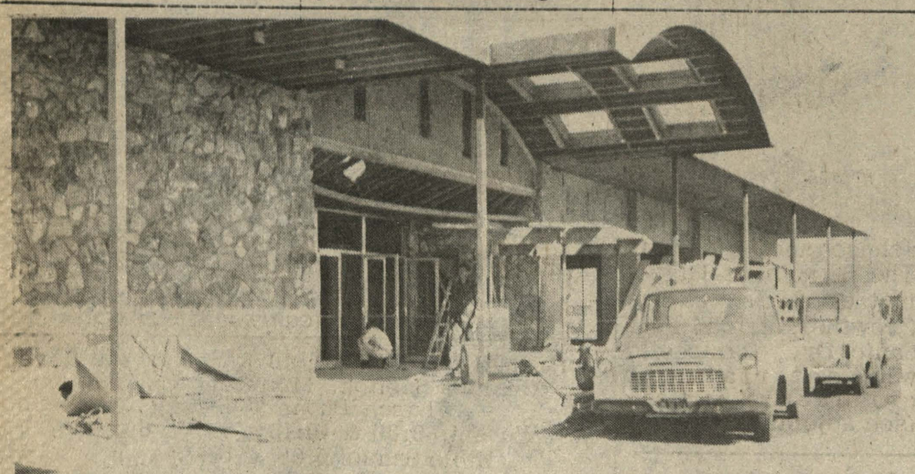
Kelly qualified for the school on the basis of amount of personal business, service to clients and completion of the LNL Agents Training Course. During the school the agents studied the latest developments in life and health insurance, with special emphasis on business insurance. Kelly is a member of J. Candeias & Associates, San Jose.



COMING ATTRACTION--The Plaza Theatre, located in the new addition to the Campbell Plaza, at Winchester and Budd Rd., will soon be showing more than the glitter of outside facade. The new, and conveniently located theater will attract throngs of West Valley residents, as well as local Campbell people, with its programs of newly released extravaganzas, and lively musicals. Watch for this lovely entertainment center's Grand Opening...Coming Soon!

THINGS ARE GOING YUMMY--The T.G. & Y. Store, at the Campbell Plaza's new addition, will shortly open its doors to the local shopper, and the activities around the location are a bee-hive of motion as workmen scurry in and out with equipment, and tools. A Grand Opening Celebration will mark the beginning of a great Christmas Season, as the Plaza gets set for "Bigger and Better Shopping Facilities" at the popular center, at Winchester and Budd Rd., in Campbell.

TOM GUARDS THE PLATE--Tom Haller, Giant's catcher, is one of the game's best doing just that. Here he has the plate blocked against Willie Crawford, and the Dodger speedster's attempt to slide around him didn't come off.

Haller will appear at the Campbell Shopping Center, Saturday, Oct. 22, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

ONLY HER BARBER KNOWS!--Charlene Diane Dallas, Miss California, stopped in at Fernando's Barber Shop, in the Kirkwood Plaza, during her visit last week, to see if it is really true that they are running a "clip joint" there, and after a friendly chat with tonsorial artiste, "Augie" Noceti, and a nice rest in his chair, she came away with a shy smile ...and headed for her hairdressers'.

OOPS!--In last week's business page pictures of the gala event at Kirkwood Plaza, the picture of the German-dressed boys and girls from the Round House Liquors and Delicatessen, named the two pictured above as being related, giving the same last name to both! The fact of the matter is that they are just GOOD FRIENDS, and are correctly named, from left to right, Arnold Martin, and Loretta Sanchez. (Sorry 'bout that Chief!)

HERB GARDENS

A small herb garden makes only a minor change in your landscape, but it can make a major difference in your way of life. For to garden with herbs is to cultivate the better life.

Herbs may be grown in a separate bed by themselves, in pots or other containers, as edgings to a flower bed or mixed in with other plants in the annual-perennial border. If your primary interest is in cooking, the pot or separate maintenance methods are recommended. If you are a gardener-cook who appreciates both the culinary and ornamental qualities of herbs, you'll want to make use of them in the landscape.

Many herbs, especially such perennials as sage, rosemary and thyme can be highly useful border plants. Annuals such as summer savory and chervil can be incorporated into flower beds as edgings or backgrounds, as can the biennial parsley, which makes an exceptionally fine edging.

There was a time when most herbs had to be grown from seed, but increased interest in herb gardening has brought a change in that. Today, most herbs are available as pot or container plants from members of the California Association of Nurserymen. These transplant easily to the garden or to larger pots, and may be used by impatient cooks from the day they are brought home.

Herb culture is the easiest. They are pest-free and tolerant of most soils, though most of them need water in roughly the same quantity that make any garden flower thrive.

The perennial herbs should be cut back to renew them.

Slow drivers create hazards

The California Highway Patrol is continuing its efforts to eliminate the hazards caused by slow drivers who dawdle along in the fast lanes of multilane highways.

California law states that anyone driving on the highway at a speed less than the normal flow of traffic must drive in the right-hand lane or as close as possible to the right-hand edge of the road.

"Slow drivers must realize that if they do not move with the flow of traffic they create a driving hazard," Patrol Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden stated. "And, the slow driver leaves his own safety in the hands of the driver approaching from the rear at a higher speed.

That driver must make an accurate judgment of the speed of the slow driver and decide whether to slow down or pass. The slow driver also causes irritation in the driver moving faster and may cause that driver to make a hasty move that could lead to an accident."

Social Security numbers to be used for college registration

The need for Social Security numbers for all moved another step closer with the announcement by the West Valley College Officials that starting with the January registration, a Social Security number would be required for the purposes of identification.

Those planning on continuing at West Valley College or entering as new students will need a Social Security number before enrollment can be completed.

College officials list several reasons for the new conversion including the following reasons.

It will lessen error. Last semester a number of students "missed out" on desired classes because they gave inaccurate I.D. numbers (some even gave their home telephone numbers).

The new system will be more efficient. Because of rapidly increasing enrollments, the college is moving toward computerized registration, and the Social Security number, common to all students, is best suited to such a system.

The numbers are easy to get. Application forms and self-addressed envelopes for securing such numbers are available in the admissions office. Caution, it takes several weeks to get a number from Washington, so give yourself plenty of lead time.

Most of the four-year colleges are already using the system, so the student will use the same I.D. number throughout college.

Social Security numbers are being used more and more in this nation, for example by the military, banks, medical plans, driver license agencies, pension plans, job applications, income tax agencies, etc.

The system will be a fore-runner, hopefully, of a more elaborate system in which the student will get an embossed plastic card which will be used for registrations, library, financial aids, adds and drops, bookstore transactions and student activities, to mention just a few.

Campbell and Los Gatos area chairmen for the Committee for West Valley College, supporting Proposition J on the Nov. 8 ballot, have been named by Edward A. Panelli of Saratoga, general chairman.

Panelli named Mrs. Clovis Mirassou, Los Gatos home executive, and Dr. William Wasserman, Professor of chemistry at San Jose State College, as Los Gatos co-chairman.

Named Campbell area co-chairman was Harry Lind, Campbell banker.

In a joint statement, the area chairmen declared:

We urge all of the residents of the area to join with us by volunteering their services for the many tasks that must be done in such a campaign; by donating their finances, and by telling their neighbors to vote "yes" on proposition J on Nov. 8."

The temperance fund, according to Pastor Russell K. Krick of the Campbell church, will be used to sponsor such health education programs as the famous Five-day Plan to Stop Smoking.

ANSWERS

ES?

A. Annual projections of the income and expenditures for the West Valley Joint Junior College District for the next 10 years indicate that the regular current expenses of the district plus the bond interest and redemption costs for this bond issue can be met without exceeding the 1965-1966 tax rate of 65¢ per $100 of assessed valuation.

Q. HOW IS THIS POSSIBLE?

A. Because West Valley College pays out to other junior colleges significant sums of district tax funds for tuition, and for the leasing of temporary facilities. The money now used to meet these tuition payments and leases on the temporary facilities, will be applied to the bond payments in the future.

Q. WHERE WILL THE NEW COLLEGE CAMPUS BE LOCATED?

A. This campus, north of the Bayshore Highway in an area bounded by Coffin Road on the east and by Calabazas Creek on the west, was chosen after a careful study by the architects and the Citizens Advisory Committee, both of whom recommended this site as being the best from among several considered in the Santa Clara Unified School District. There is every reason to believe that an overpass across Bayshore Highway at the campus site will be completed in time for the opening of the Mission College Campus, thus assuring good accessibility.

Q. WHAT KIND OF BUILDINGS WILL THE PERMANENT CAMPUS HAVE?

A. West Valley College's building will be attractive, well constructed, and designed so that interior arrangements may be changed economically, should future needs require it. They will be neither palatial nor a monument to anyone but will be designed to enhance the site. Figures given us by the State Department of Education indicates that the state-wide average costs for actual construction of new facilities for junior college students during the period from 1959-1965, averaged out at $3600 per student. This figure ($3600) projected to January 1968 when presumably the contract for the Santa Clara construction would begin, would amount to $4,212. The comparable budget costs for West Valley Campus at Santa Clara is $3650 per student. Furthermore, the square foot costs of three neighboring colleges - Foothill, San Mateo and Chabot -- if all were to be constructed at the same time that the West Valley College is scheduled for construction, would be: Foothill, $29.60; San Mateo, $20.60; Chabot, $30.50; and West Valley - Santa Clara $29.16.

Enrollment at City College rises

Fall semester enrollment at San Jose City College, which dipped sharply when West Valley College opened its doors three years ago, has climbed back to equal record enrollment recorded in 1963.

Opening week registration figures, released by Registrar Paul Becker showed a total of 10,023 students enrolled -- 4317 day enrollees and 5716 attending evening classes on the Moorpark campus.

Becker said this fall's enrollment represents a 42 percent increase in day registration over the three year period and a 49 percent gain in extended day enrollment, even as the number of West Valley College district students attending City College on special permit continues to drop by more than 10 percent each year.

Some 450 more students enrolled in the extended day division than the fall of 1965, Becker reported, and nearly 200 more registered for day classes. While the number of West Valley College students enrolled at City College this year has not yet been officially determined, Becker said it would probably continue to be substantially lower than last year

BACK HOME--"Dolly" the camera-shy Chimpanzee owned by Gene Miller, of 156 Rincon Ave., which has been missing for several months, was finally captured at the home of Mrs. Robert Haggarty, 864 Bucknall Rd. The roaming monkey has been living in trees and on "goodies" supplied by children in the area. Young David Gaschk of 850 Bucknall Rd. kept the monkey at bay until her owner arrived.

B of A earnings show increase

Bank of America's net operating earnings continue to show a significant increase during the first nine months of 1966 over the same period last year, President Rudolph A. Peterson reported this week.

Net operating earnings for the nine months ending Sept. 30, amounted to $79,950,000 or $2.81 per share on the 28,480,000 shares outstanding, as against the total of $71,948,000 or $2.53 per share during the same period in 1965--an 11% gain.

Gains over the comparable 1965 levels in other areas were reported as follows:

FIRE DAMAGED?

A U.S. Savings Bond destroyed by fire is just as good as one held in your hand. Any burned bond will be reissued free of charge by the Treasury Department.

Local streets to have new surfaces this week

The City of Campbell has awarded the contract for application of Fog Seal to various streets in the area.

The work consists of applying an asphaltic fog seal to the existing pavement. The seal is wet and sticky and will leave tracks if walked on or driven on during the curing period.

In order to do a good job, it is necessary that no traffic, vehicle or pedistrian, travel on the new surface until it cures which usually takes three to four hours. Sanded pedestrian cross walks will be provided at intersections and intervals.

The streets to be sealed will be closed to traffic at, or after 8 a.m. on the dates indicated below. Parking will be prohibited on the streets the night before the resurfacing to allow the streets to be cleaned, and will be so posted. No traffic will be permitted on these streets after closing and until the seal has cured and the barricades are removed. Wind or rain will cause postponemen of work.

If you plan to use your car on the date the street at your home is scheduled for sealing, it will be necessary to park cars on another street not scheduled for sealing.

The following streets will be closed for sealing on dates indicated. (subject to the weather)
